HEBDEN BRIDGE is a large and populous village, ecclesiastical district, and railway station, situated in a deep valley on the banks of the Calder, at its junction with the river Hebdon; it is in the townships of Frizingden, Heptonstall, and Wadsworth, Halifax parish, and is distant 8 miles west-north-west from Halifax, 4 east-north-east from Todmorden, 14 north-east from Rochdale, 14 north-west from Huddersfield, and 24 north-east from Manchester. It is in the Todmorden union, and the diocese of Ripon. Here are several extensive cotton mills, a silk mill, two large corn mills, a saw mill, and iron foundries. Fustians, velveteens, beaver-teens, &c., are manufactured here to a considerable extent. Every facility is afforded for the transit of goods, &c., as the Lancashire and York-shire railway, and the Rochdale Canal, pass through the village. The district church, St. James's, consecrated in 1689, at Mythelm, in Stansfield township, is a hand-some stone edifice in the pointed style, with square embattled tower and 1 bell. The living is a perpetual curacy, valued at £100 per annum, in the gift of the Vicar of Halifax, and held by the Rev. Sutcliffe Bowden, B.A. Here are gas works, a Mechanics' Institution, and three good commercial inns.

HAWKESLOUGH is a village about 1 mile south-east. The Wesleyans and Particular Baptists have places of worship. The Wesleyan Association Methodists have a chapel and school at Cross lane. Mythelmroyd is 2 south-east; and Heptonstall 1 north-north-west. Old Town is a hamlet, 1 mile north-east; Buckett Well 1 north; Colingworth 1 north; and Walslow 1 north-west.

HUNTINGORE is a village, township, and parish, 4½ miles north-east from Wetherby, in the Upper wapentake of Claro, and bishopric of Ripon. The parish consists of the townships of HUNTINGORE, CATTAL MAGNA, and WALSHFORD with GREAT RIBSTON, containing in all 4,118 acres of land, of which 4,053 are the property of Joseph Dent, Esq.; the population is 514. The parish church is a plain stone building, partly covered with ivy, situated on an eminence in the village; it has a tower, which contains a clock and 2 bells. The living is a rectory, of which the great tithes are commuted at £260, and the little tithes at £160 per annum, in the gift of Joseph Dent, Esq.; the present rector is the Rev. Henry Belairs, M.A., canon of Worcester, rural dean, and domestic chaplain to the Earl of Strafford, and rector of Bedworth, near Coventry, where he resides. There is a Parochial school in the village, entirely supported by Joseph Dent, Esq., and his tenants. Huntingore township contains 178 inhabitants and 1,114 acres.

CATTAL MAGNA is a village and township, 1 mile east from Huntingore, and contains 1,168 acres of land, with 174 inhabitants.

GREAT RIBSTON is a joint township with WALSHFORD, which it adjoins. It is 3 miles west from Huntingore; the united area is 1,877 acres, with 162 inhabitants. Here is situated Ribston Hall, the seat of Joseph Dent, Esq., a handsome mansion, standing in an extensive park on the banks of the river Midd. Ribston was formerly a preceptory of the Knights Templars. Attached to the present hall is an ancient church or chapel, dedicated to St. Andrew. The famous apple called the Ribston pippin was first grown here, and takes its name from this place.
